Passwords Changed for STAT-USA Internet Access

[Notice received from STAT-USA, Dept. Of Commerce.]

Over the past several years, STAT-USA has provided the Federal depository library community with over 800 free, single-user accounts to our Internet service. Many of these user id's and passwords are now over two years old. We feel that the time has come for us to issue new passwords to our service.

Therefore, effective Monday, April 14, 1997, your current password will no longer be valid. Your new password will simply contain a "7" prefix to your current password. For example, if your current password is "0124" your new password will be "70124." Your user id will remain the same (no changes are necessary).

STAT-USA is proud to be a contributing member of the Federal Depository Library program. I regret this minor inconvenience, but I think you will understand our need to update passwords. Finally, I ask that you take whatever steps are necessary to ensure that your user identification and password are secured and used in a single-station, single-user environment only.

Ken Rogers
Director, STAT-USA

Format Designations for Electronic Products Clarified

When U.S. Government information products are made available through the Federal Depository Library Program, all formats for the products will be noted in the List of Classes. Paper and microfiche products are coded (P) and (MF). For electronic products, there are 4 codes to differentiate format:

E . . . . Electronic Products (miscellaneous)
EL . . . Online Electronic Format
CD . . . CD-ROM
FL . . . . Floppy Diskette

These codes will be used in future issues of the the List of Classes and in Administrative Notes Technical Supplement.

Example: I 19.76: Open File Reports (MF) (CD) (FL)

Libraries wishing to receive all the electronic products issued by an agency or bureau should select all item numbers associated with that agency and designated (E), (CD), and (FL). The (E) designation will be used when the exact format is unknown.

The conversion of existing notations in the List of Classes will take some time to complete, but Depository Administration Branch staff are proceeding to make the changes.
